

Photography in 19th Century America

1. Who was responsible for the first standard permanent image in photography ?
2. How long did it take to make a Daguerrotype exposure ?
3. Approximately how much time was necessary to develop the image ?
4. Why was portraiture so painful in those days ?
5. The Civil War saw a new era in photography, called _____ - _____ photography. It produced a negative on glass that was reproducible.
- * 6. Which were the most important photographers to cover the Civil War ?
 - a.
 - b.
 - c.
7. How were photos transferred to newspapers of the 1860s ?
8. What was a stereograph ? What was its purpose ?
9. Which of the three Civil War photographers is most known for his photos of the western states _____ after the war ?
10. Who shot landscapes as art according to this video ? What else did this photographer do to _____ become famous ?
11. Which photographer shot the growth and spread of the railroads westward ?
- * 12. Native Americans were photographed by _____ .
(What did many of the Indian tribes think the camera had the power to do ?)
13. What developments reduced the number of professional photographers around 1889 ?
 - a.
 - b.
14. Who began the Kodak Company ?

15. What was Kodak's early slogan ?

16. Francis Benjamin Johnson shot these types of pictures .

17. Think back for a moment. Which image(s) from the video remain(s) with you the most ?

Speculate as to why you remember it.

* = I'll give you this answer.