

Small Detail Assignment

You are to make an image in which the most interesting portion of the photo is a small, seemingly insignificant, detail which changes the entire message of the photograph.

Examples: A lady pushing a baby carriage with something other than a baby inside. It could be a kitten's head or some product being sold in a commercial photo or anything else that doesn't cross the boundary of good taste.

A sheriff from the old west who's tacking up a WANTED poster and the small detail is that it's his image on the front.

Taking an apple with a worm from a produce box. The brand name on the side of the box says "Worm Bros. Apple Company".

In the space below you are to generate some ideas of your own. Hint: I created ten in about 15 minutes while watching TV because I would visualize what would drama-tically change the scene in front of me.

Keep them "clean" and politically correct. I don't want to go to the office to defend this assignment.
