

1. A camera's _____ and _____ are two ways it controls the amount of light that gets to the film
2. The length of time the _____ is open and the size of the opening control the amount of light to the lens
3. The number that determines the size of the aperture is the _____.
4. With apertures, the _____ (larger, smaller) the hole the _____ (smaller, larger) the number.
5. The timer that controls the _____ is set in fractions of a second
6. The three things that control exposure are: _____
7. Changing the speed of the film changes the amount of _____ the film needs.
8. To stop motion select a _____ shutter speed
9. Use a _____ when shooting at 1/30 or below to reduce motion blur.
10. A _____ aperture or lens opening helps keep the foreground and background in focus.
11. A _____ aperture or lens opening helps keep the background out of focus.
12. Depth of Field is _____
13. An interchangeable lens is _____
14. A _____ lens can be adjusted, or make the subject closer.
15. _____ is the size of the dots which create the photographic image.
16. A _____ filter protects the camera from scratches or breaks.
17. A _____ is a same-size-as-the-negative print or all the negatives in a sleeve.
18. When the light is low you should use _____ speed film.
19. When shooting outside with little or no action you need _____ speed film.
20. Which is a faster shutter speed? 1/1000 or 1/15?
21. list the aperture numbers
22. list the shutter speeds
16. An _____ is one that can be removed from the body
17. A _____ is one that cannot be removed from the body

18. A _____ is one in which the length cannot be changed
19. A _____ is one that can be adjusted
20. _____ is the size of dots which create a photographic image
21. A _____ or _____ protects the lens from scratches or breaks
22. A _____ is a same-size as the negative print of all the negatives on a single roll of film
23. When the light is low or the subject has movement, you should use _____ film
24. When shooting outdoor s with little or no action, or when you want less grain, use _____ film.